Community Chaplaincy

listening

Community Chaplaincy Listening (CCL) is a service provided by NHS Grampian’s Healthcare Chaplaincy Department. CCL Listeners are experienced and trained in active listening.

How does it work?

Whether you are a patient, carer or member of staff, it offers you space to talk about what troubles you, makes you anxious or upset.

It is confidential and non-judgemental. It may help you to reflect on your situation, change how you see things and help with coping strategies.

Religion and spirituality will not be spoken about, unless raised by you.

The appointment time allocated is 50 minutes.

CCL makes it possible for you to meet with a trained listener with whom you can share your story.

Your story, in your time, for your wellbeing...
